Titles	T
Some biomechanical variables to find the best position for the prepared stance for some defensive skills and their relationship to accuracy of performance in volleyball	Master's Thesis
The effect of special exercises according to some biomechanical variables in developing the performance of the mojo crushing skill (front and back) in volleyball for youth	Doctoral thesis

Al-Band	Publishing	Issue and date	Research Title	T
Iraq	Company: Al-Qadisiyah Magazine for General Physical Education - Al-Qadisiyah University	253 AD on 5/24/2006	The effect of the five-a-side football educational curriculum on developing some basic skills for third-year female students in the Faculty of Physical Education	1
Iraq	Al-Qadisiyah Academy for General Physical Education - Al-Qadisiyah University	2007	Muscle club wear and tear, the questions of the smashing serve and its cause, the frequency of the excellent seed teams of the flying bird moths for the ambitions of the middle chicks	2
Iraq	Al-Qadisiyah Academy for General Physical Education - Al-Qadisiyah University	M on 39 4/22/2009	The irritation of emotions and their causes, the concept of cohesion for the moth, and the flying diarrhea of the murmurer	3
Iraq	General College of Physical Education - University of Babylon	86 on 5/11/2010	The contribution of the approach and the final jump mechanically in achieving the highest height to hit the ball for the forward crushing skill (diagonal - straight) in volleyball	4
Iraq	Collection of Quantitative Studies and Research in Physical Education - Albasrah university	2010	The effect of the special preparation period on the immune components of the body of athletes	5
Iraq	Al-Qadisiyah Academy for General Physical Education - Al-Qadisiyah University	85 in 4/21/2011	The effect of dirt and dust abrasives to reach faster, higher and flatter speeds on the performance of the bird's cage and bird's runners.	6
Iraq	General College of Physical Education - University of Babylon	182 in 8/16/2011	The effect of a special stroke for the flying irons of the lower extremities on the skill performance of the backhand strike and the flying strike	7
Iraq	General College of Physical Education - University of Baghdad	58 in 7/10/2011	The effect of mechanical response on controlling the steps of the first stage and the level of performance of some defensive skills of the volleyball player	8
Iraq	General Conference of Salah al-Din University	August 01, 2011	An analytical study of the level of defensive performance of free agent players and its impact on the standings of league teams  Iraqi volleyball	9
Iraq	The third international conference on biomechanics	52 AD on 4/7/2013	Biomechanical characteristics of anthropometric measurements of the upper extremities and their impact  By implementing a javelin throwing event for the disabled for different medical categories for women	10
Iraq	The third international conference on biomechanics	64 Php 4/16/2013	An analytical study on the biomechanical and physiological variables in performance endurance for the forehand and backhand smash skills in volleyball.	11
Iraq	Al-Qadisiyah Academy for General Physical Education - Al-Qadisiyah University	123 on 7/21/2013	Biomechanical variables for the 200 m enemy curve areas and their contribution to achievement	12
Iraq	International General Conference - University of Babylon	-18 10/20/2014	The effect of biomechanical loading on increasing speed according to the repulsive force of different fields  By creating a 200-meter	13
		4102	sprint curve. Biomechanical characteristics of some forms of vector forces according to their types in volleyball skills.	14
Iraq	Al-Qadisiyah Academy for General Physical Education - Al-Qadisiyah University	4102	Mechanical foundations for building motor models and their impact on evaluating motor and skill achievement for some basic volleyball skills	15
Iraq	International General Conference - University of Babylon	4102	The electrical activity of EMG problems and the significance of some biomechanical variables in determining the diagnosis of neck pain.	16

Malaysia	International journal of advanced sport sciences research	ASSR	The effect of special exercises to develop explosive power and mechanical performance skills of the arm seemed to be aimed at javelin	17
